About:

I am originally from Dublin.

I have a solid background in accounting. I have worked in accountancy firms in Dublin, London, then back in Dublin and now in Tokyo.

My career started in an accountancy firm in Dublin where I trained as a chartered accountant. This opportunity allowed me to gain valuable experience across various areas such as audit, financial reporting, and tax services.

In London, I focused on financial reporting for indigenous British companies. This experience expanded my expertise and provided me with a broader perspective of accounting in general.

Since arriving in Tokyo I have worked for Mazars Japan, an international accounting practice, founded in France, which provides professional services in Audit, Outsourcing, Tax Advisory and Financial Advisory.

I am very much looking forward to serving the Chamber and growing the ties between Ireland and Japan.
